

Do you agree?

Try to pronounce these words!

Words	Syllables	Pronunciation
Administrator	ad·min·is·tra·tor	[əd'mɪnɪ'streɪtə]
Analyst	an·a·lyst	['ænalɪst]
Business (Person)	busi·ness	['bɪznɪs]
Client	cli·ent	['klaɪənt]
Consultant	con·sul·tant	[kən'sʌltənt]
Designer	de·sign·er	[dɪ'zaɪnə]
Developer	de·vel·op·er	[dɪ'veləpə]
Employee	em·ploy·ee	[ɛm'plɔɪiː , ɛmplɔɪ'iː]
Engineer	en·gi·neer	[, ɛndʒɪ'nɪə]
Manager	man·ag·er	['mænɪdʒə]
Programmer	pro·gram·mer	['prəʊgræmə]

Listen to these people. How many people actually consider their jobs their dream jobs?

The Interviewees	Their Current Jobs	Their Dream Jobs
Nona	Customer service	Someone who makes differences in the world.
Diane		Pilot
Jennifer	Hair dresser
Mike		Professional beach volleyball player
Jeanette	Project manager
Tony		Football player
Nita	Lawyer
Gail (1)		Someone who helps people living a healthy lifestyle
Josh	Salesman in marketing
Richard		Hamburger joint owner
Ryan	Park ranger
Najla		Permanent volunteer
Sandy	Tour guide
Angelina		Entrepreneur
Jesus	Teacher
Gail (2)		Journalist

Only Ryan, Sandy, Jesus and Gail (2) enjoy their jobs.

Listen to six people telling about their dream jobs. Complete the information.

Speaker	His/her Dream Job
 Tres, the United States	<ul style="list-style-type: none">•Working for•Giving ... for a price
 Naomi, Australia	<ul style="list-style-type: none">•Working at•... -... environments•... a lot•Experiencing many different types of ... and ...
 Allan, Canada	<ul style="list-style-type: none">•Becoming an•Becoming all stars•Getting paid ... of ...•Scoring lots of ...•Receiving ... from people

Listen to six people telling about their dream jobs. Complete the information.

Speaker	His/her Dream Job
 Anita, Taiwan	<ul style="list-style-type: none">•Working at company•Doing ... jobs
 Jim, England	<ul style="list-style-type: none">•Getting very•Spending half the year in the ... hemisphere•Spending half the year in the ... hemisphere•Enjoying ...
 Kate, New Zealand	<ul style="list-style-type: none">•Having company

Listen to six people telling about their dream jobs. Complete the information.

Speaker	His/her Dream Job
 Tres, the United States	<ul style="list-style-type: none">•Working for Bill Gates•Giving advice for a price
 Naomi, Australia	<ul style="list-style-type: none">•Working at United Nation•Multi-cultural environments•Travelling a lot•Experiencing many different types of countries and lifestyles
 Allan, Canada	<ul style="list-style-type: none">•Becoming an NHL Hockey Player•Becoming all stars•Getting paid million of dollars•Scoring lots of goals•Receiving honors from people

Listen to six people telling about their dream jobs. Complete the information.

Speaker	His/her Dream Job
 Anita, Taiwan	<ul style="list-style-type: none">•Working at mass communication company•Doing creative jobs
 Jim, England	<ul style="list-style-type: none">•Getting very high salary•Spending half the year in the northern hemisphere•Spending half the year in the southern hemisphere•Enjoying summer
 Kate, New Zealand	<ul style="list-style-type: none">•Having snow boarding company

Example of Short Description

- Tres, United States

My dream job, absolute best job in the world, would be working for Bill Gates, and being able to give my advice for a price. He asks me what I think about Longhorn, it sucks, redo it, I get a few million. What do I think about the new apple computers, or OS, it's great, we should copy it don't get caught. I get millions. How could you ask for anything more?

- Naomi, Australia

My dream job would be to work at the United Nations. I would like to work there because I could work in a very multi-cultural environment and I would be allowed to travel a lot and experience many different types of countries and lifestyles.

- Alan, Canada

Ah, my dream job, well, I would like to be an NHL hockey player, and All-Star in the NHL, getting paid millions of dollars a year, scoring a lot of goals. Having lots of people honor me and look up to me and just be a good hockey player.

- Anita, Taiwan

What is my dream job? My dream job is to work in the mass-communication company and I think I'm a very creative person, so I would like to do a job, a very creative job so I think a mass-communication company can let me, let me provide those creative thoughts and ideas.

- Jim, England

My dream job would involve first of all, very, very high salary. I would start work at about 10 am, lunch at 12 for 2 hours, and then work in the afternoon until 4. I think I would spend half the year in the Northern Hemisphere, and then half the year in the Southern Hemisphere, just so I could have summer all year long.

- Kate, New Zealand

My dream job is have my own business. At the moment, I'm really into snowboarding and so I'd love to have a snowboarding tour company. Every year I'm going snowboarding, and I have a lot of experience in teaching snowboarding, instructing, and also I'm at university now so I'm learning how to run my own business, and accounting, et cetera, so I'd love to be a snowboarding, to own my own snowboarding tour company.

Listen to a conversation between Christian and Todd. Answer the following questions!

1) What does he want to be?

- a) Diplomat
- b) Doctor
- c) Dentist

2) What does he want a Master's Degree in?

- a) Economics
- b) Law
- c) International Relations

3) How long does diplomat school last?

- a) 2 years
- b) 3 years
- c) 4 years

4) How many Norwegians live in Japan?

- a) 200
- b) 300
- c) 400

5) What was his dream job as a child?

- a) Fireman
- b) Doctor
- c) He did not have one

Christian Todd

Example of Dialogue

- Todd: OK, Christian, what is your dream job, if you could have any job in the world?
- Christian: My dream job is to become a diplomat representing my country, preferably in Japan. That's why I came to Japan to learn Japanese and hopefully obtain a master degree in International Relations. After getting my master's degree in International Relations, I would like to go home and enter the diplomat school for the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, which is a three year program, and then, after that hopefully come back to Japan and work for the Norwegian Embassy in Tokyo.
- Todd: Must be pretty competitive.
- Christian: It's very competitive, but I think if you know a certain language that not many people speak it gives you a competitive edge nevertheless so that's why I came to Japan because I know at this stage there are only 300 hundred people from Norway living in Japan and not all of them are here to study Japanese, they represent different companies or schools, or they're missionaries so, that's the track I'm on right now but we'll see how it goes in the end.
- Todd: How about when you were a child, what was your dream job? Did you want to be a diplomat when you were say, 10?
- Christian: No, when I was ten I probably didn't know what I wanted to do. I was just too busy playing in the street, you know, having fun with my friends and these things. When I was that young I really didn't have a dream job like fireman, police. I never really went through that stage, you know.
- Todd: I wanted to be a baseball player.
- Christian: Alright, fair enough.
- Todd: I'm still dreaming.
- Christian: Oh, that's good.

Plan

Reason

Past experience

Listen to a conversation between Jeff and Todd. Answer the following questions!

1) What kind of company would he like to own?

- a) Taxi company
- b) Travel agency
- c) Tour company
- d) Car import business

2) What will Jeff's company be careful not to do?

- a) Disturb local culture
- b) Go to the zoo
- c) Be high impact
- d) Visit tourist places

3) What will Jeff do differently than other tour companies?

- a) Give night hours
- b) Have personal assistants
- c) Hire local help
- d) Offer refunds

4) What words does he use to describe India and its people?

- a) Dirty, noisy and hot
- b) Special, beautiful and fun
- c) Exotic, cheap and interesting
- d) Adventurous, exciting and unique

Jeff

Todd

Example of Dialogue

- Todd: So, Jeff, we're talking about odd jobs. What's a job that you would like to have? What's a job that you think would be one of the coolest jobs to have?
- Jeff: Difficult question, Todd. I guess the job that I would like to do, it might not be the coolest job, but I think it would be a fun job and I think it would pay OK, would be running a small tour company, so taking small groups of people to exotic locations like India and having a sort of very intimate tour so that you don't stand out in the country you're in and the people you're taking on the tour get to sort of blend in and see some of the real views of the country.
- Todd: Now, that actually surprises me a little bit because you're a very worldly person Jeff and you're very conscious about culture and things like that. Don't you worry that if you have a job where you're bringing people into another culture that you maybe ruin it or spoil the culture a little bit?
- Jeff: Yeah, Todd, that's a good point, but I think it's inevitable that they're going to go anyway, so you can take them and take them on a very low impact tour, where it doesn't disturb the country so much or you can let them go with a big organization that sort of takes them through a country so it's like a zoo, where there's no interaction and they're sort of looking, looking through a window so I think if I take them it will be less destructive to the culture.
- Todd: OK, well, so there are a lot of tour companies out there, so if you had a tour company what would you do differently? Like how would your tour company be different than the others?
- Jeff: I think I would try to use a lot of local people in the service so instead of bringing people over with you and having them do everything, I'd sort of bring a lot amount of employees over and let the locals do everything. Let the locals guide, let the locals drive, try to include the locals as much as possible and it would be a better experience for the tourist as well.
- Todd: So, I think you mentioned that you'd like to have your company for India. What is it about India? Why would you want to have a tour company there?
- Jeff: Many people don't like India because it's dirty, noisy. It's smelly, hot. It's special place and I think you sort of lose a bit of your the social greed or possessional habits that you have, that you don't even notice you have them, that you acquire them when you living in the West and when you go to India they're stripped away. So I think it's just a special place and it's cheap and it's exotic and it's interesting and Indian people are beautiful people, really fun to be around.

Share your idea about your dream job in a paragraph & share it next week!

